

PFI hartal violence premeditated: Pinarayi

Congress, BJP come down heavily on govt for police failure in preventing vandalism; 281 cases registered so far

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@TPuram/Thiruvananthapuram

TERMINING the widespread violence during Friday's hartal called by the Popular Front of India (PFI) as "unprecedented and premeditated", Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has vowed that everyone involved in the savage acts will be brought to book soon.

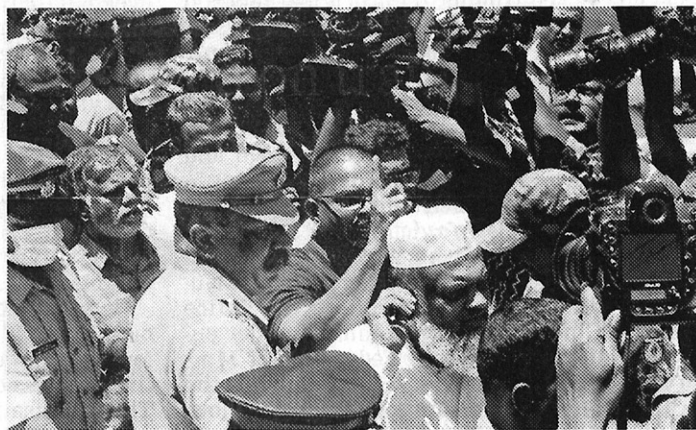

However, the UDF and the BJP came down heavily on the government alleging police failure in preventing violence. Meanwhile, the police have so far registered 281 cases in connection with the violence and arrested 1,013 people.

Addressing the Kerala Police Officers' Association meet in Thiruvananthapuram on Saturday, Pinarayi said there was a deliberate attempt to disrupt the state's peaceful atmosphere. "The PFI activists carried out masked attacks. Some were arrested and the rest will be brought to book soon," he said, rubbing the opposition allegation. He claimed that the police were able to effectively counter violence.

"Kerala is not a state that entertains communalism. Both minority and majority communalism should be opposed," he said. Leader of Opposition V D Satheesan accused Pinarayi of encouraging communalism in the state. "The attack on public property, especially on KSRTC buses, is totally unacceptable. It is unfortunate that the state machinery couldn't resist attacks," he told reporters in Thiruvananthapuram. Termining Pinarayi's anti-communal stand as "fake", Satheesan said it would be exposed soon.

Satheesan said the CM was addressing a huge gathering in Thiruvananthapuram on Friday when PFI workers attacked KSRTC buses across the state. He didn't utter a word against the perpetrators. Senior BJP leader and party's Kerala prabhari Prakash Javadekar too blamed the Left government for the hartal violence. The government is equally responsible as it failed to combat the violence, he alleged. "Both the CPM and PFI are hand in glove, which we saw during the local body elections. How can the lone CPM MP A M Arif claim that the violence was an isolated incident? The CPM leadership has not bothered to dismiss his statement either," Javadekar told reporters in Thiruvananthapuram. He pointed out that though raids were held in many states, Kerala was the only place which saw widespread violence.

The BJP leader did not spare former Congress president Rahul Gandhi either. What's stopping Rahul from naming PFI, he asked. Javadekar further alleged that state congress president K Sudhakaran had sought the help of the PFI during the last Lok Sabha elections.

Senior BJP leader and Minister of State for External Affairs V Muralidharan said when Nero fiddled when Rome burned, Pinarayi drummed while Kerala was bleeding. He was apparently referring to the CM beating drum at the inauguration of the cyber security conference in Kochi on Friday. "Will the Chief Minister take the same stand if opposition parties organise hartal," he asked.

Tank crash kills woman: Councillor hubby in dock

P SRINIVASAN @ Namakkal

A complaint has been filed against the husband of a ward member after a woman died in a water tank collapse near Rasipuram in Namakkal.

The complaint filed by Narai Kinaru panchayat president S Rangasamy stated that the tank was constructed without the permission of the panchayat.

Pappathi (55) of Narai Kinaru died after the tank collapsed on her in the 5th ward of Narai Kinaru on Friday.

"The tank was constructed without the panchayat's permission by C Murugan, the husband of ward 5 member Ramya, in an unsafe way to gain influence over the people. Appropriate legal action should be taken against him in this case."

Officials from the panchayat said one of the main reasons of the accidents was that the tank was opened for public use before the construction was completed.

"Despite complaint, the police has taken no action against Murugan," they added.

Speaking to TNIE, Namakkal Collector Shreya P Singh said, "The drinking water tank was built by a private person in the area and appropriate legal action will be taken in this regard."

When contacted, District Superintendent of Police Sai Charan Tejaswi refused to comment on the matter.

The police are investigating all aspects of the case, sources close to the police said.

Kallakurichi riot: SIT questions six YouTubers for spreading fake news

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kallakurichi

AFTER a Special Investigation Team (SIT) formed to investigate the Kallakurichi riot blocked six YouTube channels for spreading fake news, administrators of those channels were inquired by the police team on Friday.

Administrators of five YouTube channels - Gopinath (22) of Thiruvananthapuram in Sivanganga, Rajesh (21) of Guduvancheri in Chengalpattu, Naveen Kumar (28) of Pallapatti in Salem, Vadivel (38) of Samundipattam in Tirupur and Muhammad Shafiq (32) of Seven Wells in Chennai - were questioned. "We took their statements regarding the videos they posted on their channels," a police source said.

The source added that further investigation is on and a chargesheet will be filed against them soon. A few more YouTube channels are under their investigation and soon action will be taken against them too, the source said.

Meanwhile, the SIT team, on Friday, arrested K Duraimanikandan (23), P Jaibharath (24), Yuyaraj (25) of Sankarapuram, P Samidurai (39) and C Annamalai (29) of Ogaipur for involving in the riot and also stealing things from the school.

'Explosives' found at school

Workers involved in cleaning at Sakthi Matriculation School, where the student died, found a paper bundle containing a black-coloured substance on Saturday. Mistaking it to be explosives, they informed the Chinnasalem police.

Police personnel rushed to the school and inspected the packet. SIT members, who were also at the spot, checked the substance. But they confirmed it to be only black cumin. "Though we confirmed that it was only black cumin, fake news is spreading on social media. We have launched an investigation into it and severe action will be taken against anyone spreading fake news," said the police.

New shutter for Parambikulam to cost ₹7cr

S GURUVANMIKANATHAN
@Chennai

A new shutter will be installed on the Parambikulam dam in place of the one that was damaged and washed away four days ago. The new shutter will cost ₹7 crore.

The government has also constituted a special team to inspect all the 90 dams managed by TN to prevent such incidents. The task should be completed by October end.

A senior officer of Water Resources Department (WRD) told TNIE that they submitted a proposal to the State government seeking funds for the new shutter. Short-term tenders would be floated for other repairs on the dam.

The old shutter was 42 feet wide and 27 feet high. Raw materials for the new shutter could be purchased from the Salem steel plant or those in "A preliminary report has been sent to the National Dam Safety Authority and the Central Water Commission. The detailed report would be submitted within a fortnight," the official said.

Another WRD officer said teams from the dam safety directorate carried out periodical inspections at the 90 dams maintained by the State government. In the last three months, they visited Parambikulam dam thrice and checked its chain link, counterweight, and other mechanisms.

According to official sources, fund allocation by State and Central governments for dam repair has been poor. For example, repair and reinforcement of 37 dams, including Mettur, Bhavanisagar, and Krishnagiri, at ₹610.26 crore was scheduled under Dam Rehabilitation and Improvement-2 (DRIP-2) scheme in 2020. Most of this work is yet to be completed due to lack of funds.

'TO AFFECT LIVES'

Rescind bandh call on Sept 25,27: Collector

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Puducherry

THE separate Puducherry bandhs called by the Thanthai Periyar Dravidar Kazhagam (TPDK) and the Hindu Munnani on September 26 and 27 are expected to cause some serious inconvenience to the public, traders, and the law-enforcement. The Hindu Munnani bandh will be in protest against the controversial statements made by DMK MP A Raja on Hindu religion and the ancient text, Manusmriti. The TPDK will be protesting against the Centre's policies and the rise in prices of petrol, diesel, and LPG.

The two groups had clashed earlier this week and there is a fear of violence escalating in Puducherry.

District Collector E Vallavan on Saturday convened separate meetings with both the groups and urged them to withdraw the bandh. He said peace could be disturbed and the bandh would affect the lives of people. The schools in Puducherry, closed due to widespread fever, are slated to reopen on Monday. The quarterly examinations are also coming up. Also, trade will be affected.

Leopard skin smuggled from West Bengal seized on train

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Villupuram

THE railway police on Saturday seized leopard skin smuggled from West Bengal while inspecting an express train at Villupuram junction. It was handed over to forest department officials for further investigation.

According to a police source, a team of police persons were checking the train from Kharagpur on Saturday morning when they saw an unclaimed bag in the unreserved compartment.

"On opening the bag, the team found a leopard skin," said the source. They brought the skin to the station and informed higher officials. Railway Police deputy superintendent of police Prabhakaran and inspector Arunkumar came to Villupuram and inspected it. After that, it was handed over to forest department officials for further investigation.

Based on an order from Villupuram district forest officer Sumesh Soman, a case was filed and further investigation is on to more information on the smuggling route.

Speaking to TNIE, a forest department official from Villupuram said, "The leopard skin was sent to Advanced Institute of Wildlife Conservation in Chennai for testing. We also informed to forest departments in other states." Source said the skin might be worth around ₹10 lakh but forest department officials refused to conform the value.

'Isaac trying to stagnate probe'

Kochi: The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has informed the Kerala High Court that former finance minister Thomas Isaac is making irrelevant and vague allegations to evade the summons issued to him in connection with the issuance of masala bonds by KIIFB. The central agency said Isaac was attempting to stagnate the investigation from its very initial stage. ED said the petition filed by Isaac is premature. It is clear that there is not even any cause of action at this stage, ED said.
